Founder Profile

Sriram Chakravarthy: Founder and CTO

Sriram brings over 20 years of engineering experience in designing massively scalable distributed software. His fervent belief that intelligent, conversational interfaces are the panacea of the “last mile automation” challenges in the enterprise.

Previously Sriram was Vice President of Products for the Social Computing division at TIBCO where he was responsible for building tibbr, TIBCO’s SaaS based Social Computing platform. He successfully scaled engineering, support and services to serve customers in 121 countries.

Earlier in his stint at TIBCO, he was responsible for product strategy and management of TIBCO core portfolio of business integration products, a $400M product line. He has worked as a software engineer and architect in messaging, Machine Learning, e-commerce and cloud software and has picked up a dozen patents on the way.
